Neighborhood Association Newsletter

After the terrific turnout for the BBQ in July, it's time to announce plans for the next gathering.

Mark your calendars now for Saturday, October 21, 1-4 p.m. That's when folks who live in the Germantown Trails neighborhood are invited to meet at the park next to Farmington Elementary School. Everyone is encouraged to bring pot-luck style meals, with each family bringing their own drink and food to share. Additionally, you may want to participate in the Chili Cookoff!

As you know, this park comes with all sorts of activities for family fun. So bring your basketballs, soccer balls, tennis balls and raquets. As always, a comfortable but portable chair would be handy, or there will be plenty of room to spread out a blanket. And for those kids who are small enough to enjoy it, the playground equipment is always a place for a good time.

While we are gathered, there will be a short business meeting. If you have any specific concerns, please contact John Davis prior to the cookout, so that he can research your question. Additionally, some of our representatives will be attending the Germantown Neighborhood Leaders Conference later in October; Dorothy Lee should be contacted if you have anything to address at this conference.

And for those of you who have a competitive edge about you:

We are proud to announce the first annual Germantown Trails Chili Cookoff!

If you have a recipe for chili that you can't wait to show off, bring it to Farmington Park October 21. You'll need to provide your own crockpot; powerstrips will be provided, along with cups and spoons for the voting public to use. A very non-scientific poll will determine the first winner of this sure-to-be-spicy contest!

BOARD NEWS

As the end of the year approaches, so do the terms of some of our elected Board members. In anticipation of the December election, Barbara Hoffman and Dick Vandenberg are key members of the nominating committee. Please contact one of them if you'd like to be considered for a position.

Home & Personal Security Survey

The Germantown Police have provided a list of questions to which you should answer "yes" to ensure the safety of your home and family. We'll include some of these in each issue.

- Do you know your neighbors, including all occupants of their homes?
- Do you leave your front and back porch lights on every night whether you are home or not?
- Do you have a peephole installed in your front and back doors?

Local Contacts

Probably the most important people in our neighborhood association are our Block Captains. They have volunteered to be the link between all the families who reside in our area, and the Board of Directors.

If you ever have any questions or concerns you want brought to the Board, please contact your Block Captain
